Just beware of this Celcom contest. If you are not ready to part away with a hefty mobile bill, then please stay away from this contest. The NCCC has received way too many complaints on this issue.
&#65533;
Lets give some thought to this opinion: I think this should apply to all companies.
&#65533;
"In this era of high food and fuel prices, government-linked companies (GLCs) like Celcom should play their role to educate the public on how to save money and reduce expenses. They should not just think of their own profits and organize activities like this which only benefits themselves at the rakyat's expense".

Thank you
